

PUBLIC DAILY LEDGER

FIFTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., SATURDAY, JUNE 27, 1896.

ONE CENT.

"If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect."

Mr. H. C. Sharp was in Paris yesterday on a visit to relatives.

Miss Nannie Peed is the guest of Miss Dorothy Peed of Millersburg.

Miss Nellie Bell is the guest of Miss Louise Cottingham at Vanceburg.

Miss Ary Dorsey of Flemingsburg is visiting her cousin, Miss Amelia Wood.

Mrs. John Eberle is here from Cincinnati to visit her sister, Mrs. John Hauck.

Miss Beatie Bell of Ashland is visiting her aunt, Mrs. C. D. Outen of West Third street.

Misses Emma and Lizzie Schwartz returned last evening from a visit at Newport and Cincinnati.

Misses Minnie and Jessie Stephens of this city are visiting friends and relatives at Quilico.

Mrs. Clarence Dunbar and little daughter of Indianapolis are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kinney of the Sixth Ward.

Miss Emma Campbell has returned from Versailles, where she attended the Convention of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs.

Money Saver! AND MONEY RAISER!

The sale of H. C. Barkley's Shoes is not a matter of profit, but to realize money on the stock. See the prices and you will be convinced of the fact. The time is here when this stock must be sold.

H. C. Barkley & Co.

W. W. BALL, Assignee.

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect for the Next Twenty-four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White streamer—Fair.
Blue—Rain or snow.
With black above—Will warm or grow.
If black's beneath—Golden will be.
Unless black's shown—no change we'll see.

The above forecasts are made for a period of thirty-six hours, ending at 8 o'clock in morning.

V. Ross is the new Postmaster at Morning Glory, Nicholas county.

Mr. R. E. Carpenter is seriously ill at his home in Fleming county.

Mr. T. A. Henderson, aged 80, whose home was at Mt. Carmel, died some days ago.

Owing to bad weather the Maysville Colored Bible Club cancels dates for Saturday, July 13th, 1896, of which due notice will be given.

Elder Graham Frank, son of the late Elder J. C. Frank of this city, has graduated from Lexington Bible College and has taken charge of the Christian Church at Glasgow.

Mention was made yesterday that at the annual convention of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs held at Versailles, a resolution prohibiting colored women's clubs from becoming members of the Federation had been adopted. This was an error, for the motion was put before the house and not passed, meeting with decided opposition.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION.

An Interesting Meeting at Hebrew Church, Near Furnace.

The Mason County Branch of the Kentucky Sunday-school Union held its annual session at Hebrew Church, near Furnace, yesterday.

The attendance was large enough to fill every available space in the building, leaving a goodly number to view the proceedings through the windows.

At 9:30 a. m. President John Duley called the Convention to order.

There was a song service, the music under direction of Mr. Hal C. Curran, with Mrs. T. B. Cook of Germantown at the organ, assisted by Messrs. Lee B. Gray and Sam Simon of this city with clarinets and cornet.

After an invocation by the Rev. T. B. Cook the regular program was taken up. Addresses were made on the following topics by the respective gentlemen named:

"Objects and Purposes of the Kentucky Sunday School Union," Mr. John Duley.
"Defects in Sunday-school Management; Their Cause and Cure," Prof. J. C. Lewis.

"How to Grade the Sunday-school," Prof. J. W. Asbury.

"The Primary Teacher; His Preparation and Work," Mr. Hal C. Curran.

"The Superintendent and His Work," Rev. W. A. Penn.

"The Teacher and His Work," Prof. Curry.

"How Shall We Promote Home Study?" Rev. J. S. Sims.

"How to Secure Prompt and Regular Attendance of Pupils," Rev. Mr. Morgan.

"The Needs of the Sunday-school in the County," Mr. Thomas A. Davis.

Address by Prof. J. C. Lewis, State Superintendent of Normal Work.

During the exercises beautiful solos were sung by Miss Bertha Daulton, Miss Pollock and Mr. Hal C. Curran, and a duet by Mrs. T. B. Cook and Miss Pollock.

The officers named for the ensuing year are Messrs. John Duley President, J. S. Asbury Vice-President, E. Swift Secretary and J. James Wood Treasurer.

A collection was taken and $90 77 resulted.

Reports were received from a number of schools throughout the county, but many were derelict in this respect.

Measures will be taken to secure a report from every school when next year's Convention is held.

The citizens of the Furnace neighborhood dispensed a genuine Kentucky hospitality, chief among them Squire Powell.

White Kid
Strap : : Sandals.
J. HENRY PECOR.

B. Owens, on whose farm the Church stands and whose elegant home is near by. Mr. Owens threw open his barns for the care of horses, and his haymow and corncribs were at the disposal of visitors, while Mr. Owens had prepared a delightful home dinner for some forty guests.

The next Convention will be held in Maysville.

And Bob Hoeflich he pays the toll.
Elder J. W. Bullock will visit the Church at Bethany next Lord's day, and at Gallies, near Ruggles Campground, the first Lord's day in July. Brethren seeing the notice will please give publicity to the appointments.

Silverites

Fairly glad over our Silverware—it's so rich looking they can't see why our silver isn't just as good as gold. It is better for table use—better for knives and forks and spoons—better than gold for all these things. There isn't any such array of silverware in town as we have here—all in the latest shapes and fancies.

Silver Platters, Silver Cream Jugs, Silver Sugar Bowls, Silver Knives, Silver Forks, Silver Spoons, Silver Butter Dishes, Silver Pitchers, Silver Tea Sets, Silver Plates, Silver Jars, Silver Toilette Accessories, Silver and Silverware.

There's no time to silver that is not here, and we want you to see our silver display—Prices—They will speak for themselves.

J. BALLENGER, Jeweler, Maysville, Ky.

For Paris Green that will kill and not fatten insects go to Chenoweth's.

Master Hickman Hanson will be the Trick Bicycle Rider at the P. O. S. A. Picnic on the Fourth of July.

It is the unanimous opinion of every one who has priced the Watches offered by P. J. Murphy the Jeweler that he is offering them at lower prices than these goods have ever been offered. All his Watches are warranted to give satisfaction.

Dr. George W. Wroten of Louisville, an old-time Maysville man, wants to engage in the newspaper business.

Mothers will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy especially valuable for croup and whooping cough. It will give prompt relief and is safe and pleasant. We have sold it for several years and it has never failed to give the most perfect satisfaction. G. W. Richards, Duquesne, Pa. Sold by J. James Wood, Druggist.

"Act today or weep tomorrow;
Who delays is friend to sorrow."

Opportunities Neglected Are Irrecoverable!

The man who knows a good thing when he sees it, and grabs it quick, is the fellow who'll soon clip coupons and summer at the seashore.

| | |
|---|---|
| Men's $6 Hand-sewed Russia Calf Bais, all shades, for.....$4 50 | Men's $4 Hand-sewed Russia Calf Bais, all shades, for.....$3 00 |
| Men's $6 Hand-sewed Veil Kid Bais, all shades, for.....$4 50 | Men's $3 Tan Russia Calf Bais for.....$2 00 |
| Men's $5 Hand-sewed Russia Calf Bais, all shades, for.....$4 00 | Men's $2 Tan Russia Calf Bais for.....$1 00 |

NEVER MIND THE WHY.

HIGH GRADE SHOES
F. B. RANSON & CO.

No. 33 WEST SECOND STREET.

The Bee Hive!

The Bee Hive!

READ EVERY LINE CAREFULLY!

and then call at the store and see hundreds of other items that are not enumerated from

OUR GREAT $10,000 PURCHASE of Bamberger, Bloom & Co.'s assigned stock. The bargains of the century await you. Just think of 50 dozen Ladies' Laundered Shirt Waists (slightly soiled) 9c. each. There are only 50 dozen, so don't delay. There was one item of 4,078 yards of CHALLIES and IRISH LAWNS—splendid styles—at 2½c. per yard; some 1,600 yards Kid Finished Cambric 3c. a yard; and just think of LADIES' PURE SPUN SILK GLOVES—color Black—at 14c. a pair; their true value is 50 to 75c.; and there are only some 60 dozen pairs. Below we mention some few of the hundreds of other bargains, besides some GREAT REDUCTIONS IN OUR OWN COMPLETE STOCK.....

NOTIONS, &c.

Choice of 800 Umbrellas, Gloria Silk, plain and fancy handles, 49 cents.
300 pieces Mosquito Bar, colors blue, green and red, two yards wide, at 2½ cents per yard. Palm Leaf Fans, 9 cents per dozen. All-silk Baby Ribbon, picot edge, 1 cent per yard. Helipins, 1 cent per package. Pins, 1 cent per paper. Japanese Toopicks, 500 in a box, 5 cents per box. Felt Window Shades, spring fixtures, 12 cents each. 50 Envelopes for 5 cents. 48 sheets Writing Paper for 5 cents. Seam Braid, the regular 10 cent kind at 3 cents a bolt. Best Steel Pens, 3 cents per dozen. Lead Pencils, 3 cents per dozen. Black Pins, 1 cent per box. Belle of St. Louis Soap, 4 cents per cake. Pure Milled Violet Soap, 3 cakes for 10 cents. Ready made Talco Wrappers, 50 cents. 5-4 Table Oilcloth, 14 cents per yard.

DRESS GOODS.

6,000 yards Imported Black Organdy, worth up to 30 cents per yard; our great cash purchase enables us to offer these at 6½ cents.
Some 5,000 yards Duck and Pique Suitings, short lengths, at 8 cents a yard.
60 pieces Genuine French Biege, double width, all wool, 5 cents per yard.
50 pieces of Serge Plaids, double width, 5 cents per yard.
36 inch all wool Dress Goods, plaids and novelties, 15 cents per yard.
One-fourth off the price of any other pieces of Dress Goods in the house.
See the great reductions in Towels and Table Linens.
Ladies' and Misses Pure Spun Silk Mitts 10 cents per pair.

CORSETS.

Our 65 cent Summer Corset now 50 cents. Our $1 J. B. Corsets now 69 cents. Regular $1 20 R. & G. and Armored now 53 cents. No. 1107 genuine French P. D. Corset, regular price $1 75, for this sale $1 23. No. 170 regular $3 P. D. Corset now $1 69.

DOMESTICS.

3,000 yards Zephyr Ginghams, 5½ cents; other stores get 12½ cents for them. Lancaster Apron Ginghams and French Chambray Ginghams, for this sale 4½ cents.
Best Shirting Prints, only 4½ cents per yard.
Indigo Blue Calico, 34 cents per yard.
Regular 12½ cent Outing Flannels, best makes, for 6½ cents per yard.
Good India Linen 5 cents per yard.
Yard wide Percales, 7 cents per yard.

Nothing sent out on approval for this great sale and TERMS STRICTLY CASH!

DON'T ASK FOR CREDIT!

ROSENAU BROS., Proprietors BEE HIVE,
SECOND STREET, MAYSVILLE, KY.

Public Ledger

DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY.
THOMAS A. DAVIS,
EDITOR AND OWNER.
OFFICE—Public Ledger Building, No. 25 East Third Street.

SUBSCRIPTIONS—IN ADVANCE.
One Year $3.00
Six Months $1.50
Three Months .75
DELIVERED BY CARRIER.
Pay in Advance to the Editor.

TO ADVERTISERS.
Advertising rates uniform and reasonable and made known on application at the office.

Subscribers who fail to get the Ledger regularly will receive a copy of the paper at the office.

WE'RE FOR AMERICA! AMERICANS!

"Advance Agent of Prosperity."
Our Next President.

WILLIAM MCKINLEY
of Ohio.

Vice-President.
GARRETT A. HOBART
of New Jersey.

WITHOUT the full permission of the Fifty Cent Democrats and a half dozen galvanized Republicans Governor BRADLEY will lead the McKinley campaign in Kentucky.

AFTER a full and fair trial in the management of the Nation's finances the Democratic party shows a balance on the wrong side of $252,000,000 in three years of peace.

EVAN Venezuela, one of the Republics on a continent of wildcat currency, has declared for a gold standard. The people there have sickened of a money that had no stability and so intend henceforth to measure everything by the one standard.

THE conservative Philadelphia Ledger says it does not seem to have occurred to those Southern and Western states which are clamoring for free silver that they are thereby advertising their poverty in a way likely to do them much more harm than good. They are saying in effect that it is not possible to make a living in their territory by farming, trading, mining or manufacturing, and that unless some financial jugglery comes to their relief their people cannot prosper. That is not the case in the East, and men who had thought of emigrating to the new states, which are in need of population to develop their resources, will conclude that, if the struggle for life is so severe there, they would better stay where they are, while capitalists, who have been advancing the money to develop these sections, have already made up their minds that free silver is a form of repudiation, and if it is adopted they will withhold the means by which the emigrants gain a foothold. Altogether, the free silver movement is for these states very much like suicide.

Go to Mrs. John Crane for all kinds of Cat Flowers. The finest of Tea Roses and Rosebuds—231 East Fifth Street.

Taylor Bros. at Washington are selling 30 pounds of granulated sugar for $1.10, packages of Arbuckle's coffee for $1.15 and all their dry goods and shoes at cost to close out. They have a nice stock.

The Detroit and Cleveland Steam Navigation Company's steamers are now running daily (except Sunday) between Detroit and Cleveland. When traveling East or West, North or South, try to arrange to take advantage of these luxurious steamers between Michigan and Ohio. If you are contemplating a summer outing, write, A. A. Schantz, G. P. A., Detroit, Mich., for illustrated pamphlet, which gives full information of a trip to Mackinac via the Coast Line.

Mr. James Perdue, an old soldier residing at Monroe, Mich., was severely afflicted with rheumatism but received prompt relief from pain by using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "At times my back would ache so badly that I could hardly raise up. If I had not gotten relief I would not be here to write these few lines. Chamberlain's Pain Balm has done me a great deal of good and I feel very thankful for it." For sale by J. James Wood, Druggist.

LETTER FROM LOUISVILLE.

COLONEL TOM YOUNG'S SOUND POLITICAL ADVICE.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 26th, 1896.

Editor Public Ledger: History proves that a duty known as a Protective Tariff aided in developing this country, peculiarly favored as it was, above all other methods ever tried, as it was the only duty that ever gave all men an opportunity to earn wages that permitted them to deal reciprocally with each other, and thus furnish employment in varied branches, says a writer who evidently knew what he was talking about.

It ruined no one, and it kept our wealth circulating to a large extent in domestic channels. It provided revenue, not only to pay expenses, but left a large surplus, which aided in extinguishing the public debt. It fostered peace, engendered love of country and made us powerful among Nations. We did not know the meaning of deficit, and the business man did not find it essential to consult the state of the gold reserve before breakfast.

We never even discovered that our currency was on a rotten foundation until the Government had run entirely out of funds. This is not politics. It is plain truth, and those who sneer at the absurdity of "taxing ourselves rich" cannot deny their own favorite theory is in present much of fault.

This is the truth of the situation in a nutshell and, as important and overhanging as the financial question has grown to be, all students of the times will agree with me that the question of a Protective Tariff, adjusted on proper lines, is of at least equal importance with that other question, whether silver should be coined at our Mints free of charge and in unlimited amounts. That the masses of the Republican party believe with me I have only to refer to the manner in which they so recently ran roughshod over their old-time leaders and rallied to the support of Major McKinley, who was, in their eyes, the personification of the Protective Tariff. The money question with them was and is of secondary importance. What they want is the prosperity of 1892, when there was employment for every one who was willing to work, and at good wages; when our revenues were ample for the most liberal expenditures for pensions, salaries and public improvements, and when not one man in ten knew there was such a thing as a "gold reserve."

I am not one to belittle this silver movement. The sentiment has grown into a madness with plenty of method in it and is every day spreading with a rapidity which should alarm and arouse to action every man who holds the honor, integrity and stability of our Government above mere party ties. Over in the state of New York where, until just the other day, a silver advocate had been looked upon as a curiosity, the "hydra head" was raised in the Democratic State Convention, and when it came to a count of noses it was found that fully one-third of the body had been inoculated and were bristling up full of fight.

We are told that in yonder time, when Noah went about giving straight tips on the then approaching deluge, he was "given the laugh" for his pains. Some people are disposed to treat this silver question in the same way, but I can tell all such skeptics that it is a deluge, and if they do not at once begin the work of building the Ark this country stands in imminent danger of being overwhelmed. I see that the Democrats over in the Tenth District shied from "Bill" Becker the other day and gave the nomination for Congress to Hon. T. Y. Fitzpatrick, a Prestonburg lawyer. This was a little rough on Becker, who is far and away the brainiest man in his party up in that neck of the woods; but he can stand it much better than his party. Fitzpatrick is a great big fat-looking fellow, with an elegant suit of fawn trowsers.

Those who know him were affected by the news of his nomination like Quigley's old Negro said the people were when they heard of his appointment to a seat on the Appellate Bench: "They didn't say nothing; they jes' laffed." The Republicans will have no trouble in beating him if they put up the right man. As I write they are in session at Bentleyville and the indications are that they are going to make a mistake.

By a recent decision of the Court of Appeals affecting the tenure of office of our Mayor and several other officials, there will be more and a hotter article of politics to the square inch in Louisville from now until November than any other point on the American continent.

THOMAS J. YOUNG.

PLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIQAM!

NEVEST NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

Ever since low water set in at Pittsburgh a large number of loaded lumber barges have lain there waiting a rise. They are loaded with cut lumber, steel rails and iron for the Southern markets and will all be likely to get away with the present freshet.

There will be a fair run of Kanawha coal to Cincinnati on the present water estimate at 10,000,000 bushels. The R. Andrews, Iron Cliff, Wm. Ernst, Conroy, W. B. Caldwell, Sea Lion, D. T. Lane, Coal Bldg, Winifred, Lydia and Bob Pritchard have already started.

There is 10.3 at Davis Island Dam, a rise of 2.7, and 9 feet at Pittsburgh. At Oil City the Allegheny, by 1.5, is falling. There is 8.8 at Wheeling, 10.3 at Parkersburg and 10.4 at Pitt. Pleasant, where the rise was 6.6. New River at Hilton rose 1.3 and the Kanawha at Charleston has a stage of 7.9, a rise of 1.3. River stages at other points are 1.5 feet at Caledonia, a rise of over 8 feet; 13.7 at Portsmouth.

Captain W. B. Sweeney estimates that there will be from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 bushels of coal start from Pittsburgh. The fleet Thursday night was preparing to leave early Friday morning, and should begin reaching here about Tuesday. The greater amount of the coal is for Cincinnati and Louisville. An immense amount of manufactured wares will also leave on the present rise. Capt. Sweeney thinks there will be about 12 feet of water at Pittsburgh.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one cure, Deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by inflammation of the mucous membrane of the Eustachian tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. It is not caused by colds, which is nothing but an inflammation of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars to any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

J. C. HENRY & CO., Toledo, O.

Mr. S. B. Chuse is at Vanceburg this week finishing up the improvements to the residence of Judge Thomas.

The funeral of Miss Mary Lehman took place this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church. Burial at Washington.

Demie Cooper, son of B. F. Cooper, a prominent farmer of Robertson, married Miss Lena L. Martin of near Glasgow recently.

The case of McKelup vs. Ort—the one test over the office of Chief of Police—was yesterday continued until November, and the Circuit Court adjourned.

Mr. James N. Kehoe has renewed his bond as Master Commissioner of the Mason Circuit Court, with M. F. Kehoe, Ben B. Poynter and W. W. Ball as surety.

Jan and Wyatt McGee of the State of Lewis were arrested at Vanceburg by a United States Secret Service Officer with $300 counterfeit coin on their persons. The Government has been working on the case since early in April.

EXPLAINING THE CASE.

MAVSVILLE, June 26th, 1896.
Editor Ledger: Your paper of today contains a communication that purports to have been written by a contributor, the headlines of which are "Justice is Blind." Whoever may have written said article forgot to state that Mr. Violey testified that he had been placed in charge of the swings on Market street by the owner, and that the Negro boy—who testified that he was 17 years old instead of 13—first threw a rock at him, and that Mr. Violey was corroborated by Messrs. Chris. Helmer and John Bentler, also by James Washington, a witness for the defendant. The boy admitted throwing a rock and a brick. It was shown that there was a crowd of boys and girls and boys a danger of being seriously hurt by the stones thrown by the boy. I suppose that each witness testified truthfully to what he saw, but each one did not see the same thing. The boy was fined 1 cent and costs, and Mr. Violey was fined $1 and costs. I write this simply because your contributor had given but one side of it. I will notice no more anonymous contributions. My own consciousness of duty and right in my judicial capacity, and the opinions of any or all your contributors. Respectfully,
JOHN T. BRAMMEL.

ALWAYS
Beware in the Old
POEMIX!
of Hartford, Conn.

"Time Tried and Fire Tested."
Quick adjustments and prompt repairs.

W. N. HOWE, Agent.
Office—No. 21 West Third street.

KENTUCKY NEWS.

The Latest News From All Parts of the Commonwealth.

SIX KILLED

Within a Few Months, as the Result of a Little County Feud.
HYDEN, Ky., June 27.—The little mountain town of Cumberland Ridge is being kept at its best since Capt. Hightlight, the alleged co-conspirator in the killing of Hon. W. P. Bentley, has been out of the place since Capt. Hightlight, the alleged co-conspirator for change of venue, but were overruled on account of former application. Pace's followers are here in force from Clay county, Kentucky. Firing is kept up nightly and an effusion of blood is hourly expected. Moonshining is as free as water. Winchester gun boats at intervals day and night. When the Lewis and Pace factions clash, and this is being inevitable, another killing or more will undoubtedly occur. The following named have been killed since November, 1895: A. R. Hightlight slew his brother, James A. H. then shot Hon. W. P. Bentley, his attorney, and at the same time was slain by Moses Wells, another Negro, a fratricide; Allen Lewis, of Lewis & Sons was killed by Abe Pace; Howell Bowdoin, by brother Eli; old Mose and Hightlight were both slain by an assassin while hoeing in his corn field. Six in all have met violent deaths in eight months, and still the work goes on.

WARRANT ISSUED

For Moses Wells, a Colored Boy, Charged With Murder.
LEXINGTON, Ky., June 27.—The body of Charles Patterson, a colored lad, was found in Warren's pond, near Derrill, on Wednesday last week, and he was supposed to have accidentally drowned while bathing. Before the case it was noticed that there were several cuts and bruises about the head and face. It has also been recently discovered that Moses Wells, another Negro boy, living in Scott county, was with Patterson when he drowned and that these boys had engaged in a fight at the pond.

It is now believed by the police that Wells pushed Patterson into the pond and then ran away. Robert G. Gentry, father of the drowned boy, came to Lexington Friday, and before County Judge Hullock swore out a warrant for the arrest of Moses Wells on the charge of murder. The warrant was taken to the sheriff of Scott county, at Lexington, this morning.

Mr. H. Steers Gets Twenty Years.

PARRIS, Ky., June 27.—After being 72 hours the jury in the case of W. H. Steers, who killed Jack Alexander, a grand juror, returned a verdict in this city two months ago, returned a verdict of 20 years in the penitentiary. Steers was indicted for the murder of Alexander, and seven were for terms from two to 10 years. Steers says that he is well pleased with the verdict. He will be with the other prisoners in the county jail.

Dying of Hydrophobia.

WHITESBORO, Ky., June 27.—At least a dozen dogs have been killed in this county within the last month. Cattle and hogs bitten by these dogs are dying of hydrophobia all over the county. Some of the dogs have been bitten, but as yet none have shown any development of the malady. The county court at this place has ordered every dog found straying around to be killed on sight.

Grand Jury Takes Louisville Officials.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 27.—The grand jury, which adjourned Friday afternoon, fired some red-hot shot at the city authorities for their purported blindness to the fact that gambling is going on in Louisville among the high class sports, while a few Negroes and newboys have been yanked up and punished for slinking in and out of a few pennies on some less elevating device.

A Horse That Eat Young Turkeys.

WEATHERS, Ky., June 27.—A horse of Weather's of Clintonville precinct, has a buggy horse which has recently developed peculiar carnivorous proclivities. The young turkeys were turned into the yard the other day, and at noon, when Mrs. Weathers went to feed them the horse was devouring Turkey No. 25. Not a feather was left to tell the story.

The Dean Factors Arming Themselves.

MIDDLEBORO, Ky., June 27.—Reports from the precinct of the Dean factors of Clintonville precinct, has a buggy horse which has recently developed peculiar carnivorous proclivities. The young turkeys were turned into the yard the other day, and at noon, when Mrs. Weathers went to feed them the horse was devouring Turkey No. 25. Not a feather was left to tell the story.

The Dean Factors Arming Themselves.

MIDDLEBORO, Ky., June 27.—The decision of the court of appeals declaring the election necessary to elect a successor to Mayor Todd, of Louisville, next November, applies also to Middleboro, Mayor Bishop having been elected to the office of mayor and the resignation of Congressman D. G. Colson.

Quartermaster Arnold.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 27.—Adj. Gen. Coffey, the prominent appointee of Gen. Arnold, of Lexington, as quartermaster of the second regiment, Kentucky state guards. His commission was signed under false pretenses and has been mailed to him.

President Speckert Indicted.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 27.—A. J. Speckert, president of the German and American Title Co., which failed a short time ago, for over $100,000, was indicted Friday afternoon for obtaining money under false pretenses.

A Morgan Haler Dead.
DAVIESS, Ky., June 27.—Capt. R. D. Logan, 78, and a bachelor, died at his home in this city, leaving an estate. He was widely known, having been a chaplain in Morgan's cavalry during the war.

BUSINESS.

The Monetary Outlook is Not Yet Clear to Some.

Number of Failures in the United States Greatly Reduced.

Leather is Slightly Lower for the Kind Not Controlled by the Leather Company. The Prices Paid for Cattle—Bessmer Pig Litter.

New York, June 27.—R. G. Dun & Co. will Saturday say:

Failures for the week have been 317 in the United States, against 336 last year, and 34 in Canada against 28 last year.

The monetary outlook is not yet clear to some. The strength shown in recent conventions by advocates of silver coinage, and expectation that all the elements favoring that policy may yet be concentrated to incline them to the wailing attitude. Their uncertainty retards improvement, notwithstanding the more widely prevalent feeling that the monetary act on of the St. Louis convention will be sustained by the people. But many mills have waited as long as they can with safety and significance have been given by enough cotton mills of the River to ensure a temporary stoppage. It is not the future of the cotton industry now under discussion. A conference with the Providence manufacturers. Meanwhile the Pacific of America and the New England of silver have closed for a time, and practically all the southern cotton mills will be represented at a meeting on Monday with the same object.

Woolen mills are active without concert, but it is mentioned in dispatches having to do with this work that no similar movement in other industries, though the period of summer closing is at hand in many of the most important branches. It is as to wages of iron puddlers and other hands made it likely that the annual stoppage in that industry will last longer than usual.

The weakness of wheat, which has declined 3.10 cents, and of cotton, which is an eighth of a cent lower, though less for future, have full explanation in decidedly not of prospects. It may be doubted whether the American cotton industry has ever been in better shape on the whole, though manufacturers complain that an additional price reduction is necessary which dealers are not prepared to pay.

Leather is slightly lower for kinds not controlled by the leather company, and at this time it is more steady, while country hogs are a shade with small retail. Cattle are held at 11.75. Lead is hovering at 3.05 and American tin is well sold at 15 cents to 16 cents.

The great combinations, which the large woolen reasons tend to cause, and at this time it is more steady, while country hogs are a shade with small retail. Cattle are held at 11.75. Lead is hovering at 3.05 and American tin is well sold at 15 cents to 16 cents.

The great combinations, which the large woolen reasons tend to cause, and at this time it is more steady, while country hogs are a shade with small retail. Cattle are held at 11.75. Lead is hovering at 3.05 and American tin is well sold at 15 cents to 16 cents.

The great combinations, which the large woolen reasons tend to cause, and at this time it is more steady, while country hogs are a shade with small retail. Cattle are held at 11.75. Lead is hovering at 3.05 and American tin is well sold at 15 cents to 16 cents.

The great combinations, which the large woolen reasons tend to cause, and at this time it is more steady, while country hogs are a shade with small retail. Cattle are held at 11.75. Lead is hovering at 3.05 and American tin is well sold at 15 cents to 16 cents.

The great combinations, which the large woolen reasons tend to cause, and at this time it is more steady, while country hogs are a shade with small retail. Cattle are held at 11.75. Lead is hovering at 3.05 and American tin is well sold at 15 cents to 16 cents.

PERALTA REAVIS

On Trial Charged With Attempt to Defraud the Government Out of Millions of Dollars.

SANTA FE, N. M., June 27.—The case of the United States vs. James Adair Peralta Reavis was called in the United States court here Friday morning. Reavis is charged with intent to defraud the government out of over 13,000,000 acres of land in eastern Arizona.

His claim was recently rejected by the United States court of private land claims, and he is now brought forward for criminal prosecution. A host of witnesses have been summoned here from Arizona and California, among them J. N. Harwood and J. H. Sweeney, who reared Mr. Reavis. They claim he was the daughter of a Digger Indian, whereas Reavis undertakes to prove he was a royal prince of the Peraltas family.

United States Attorney Matt G. Reynolds is prosecuting the case and has secured confessions from the original claimants that they created a sensation because the case is closed.

Death of Col. Wm. H. Reed.

PITTSBURGH, June 27.—Col. Wm. H. Reed, well known throughout the West, died at his home in this city Friday morning at the St. Clair hotel in this city, where he had been sick for some time. He was prominent in Pennsylvania politics and was a friend of Senator Quay and served as special agent of the treasury department with headquarters at Chicago during President Arthur's administration.

The Revenue Bill Passed.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 27.—The revenue bill passed the assembly Friday. It provides for the continuation of last year's tariff, except that mining and agricultural requisites are added to the free list. The government estimates a surplus for the year ending June 30 at $255,000,000.

John W. Langley for Congress.

DEATTVILLE, Ky., June 26.—The legislature of the Fourth district Friday afternoon nominated John W. Langley, of Floyd county, for congress. Seventy-four ballots were taken.

The Gold Reserve.
WASHINGTON, June 27.—The treasury gold reserve at the close of business Friday stood at $101,293,153. The day's withdrawals were $450,000.

NOTICE!

All persons having claims against the estate of J. M. Hawley, deceased, are requested to present them at once properly sworn to and verified according to law, and to receive the same, to said estate is required to call and settle. J. C. GILBERT, Executor. June 18th, 1896. 3617 R

MONUMENTAL STATUARY AND CARVED WORK.
In Domestic and Foreign.

M. R. GILMORE,
109 W. Second Street, MAYSVILLE, KY.
Opposite the Hotel Wm. Maxwell, Inc. at the intersection of the City Taxes!

For 1896.

On and after July 1st the Receipts for the year 1896 will be in my hands for collection.
JAMES W. FITZGERALD, City Treasurer.
Office—Keith-Schroeder Harness Co.

Ice Cream

Of a superior quality, and Soda Water drawn with Natural Fruit Juice. Try our Ice Cream Soda.

TRAXEL.

MAYSVILLE
Steam Laundry
—AND—
BATH ROOMS.

Under the new home management home people may rely upon good service and proper treatment.
BATH ROOMS OPEN ALL WEEK,
and until 10 o'clock Sunday Morning.
We respectfully solicit a share of your patronage.
DANIEL SHAFER & CO.

No Flies
IN A HOUSE WITH OUR Wire Screens!

SPECIALTY:
SCREENING HOUSES TO ORDER.
We Pay Freight—Write for Catalogue.
—THE R. T. WINSTON CO.—
OFFICES IN ALL LARGE CITIES.

State National Bank
MAYSVILLE, KY.

CAPITAL STOCK $100,000
PAID UP $25,000

DO A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS.

Our President, Cashier,
W. H. Day, President.
Jas. N. Kirk, Vice-President.

THE "TWIN COMET"
AND "LITTLE GIANT"

Lawn Sprinklers!

The Best Made.....

Unique, Efficient and Labor Saving. Will sprinkle four times greater area than any other sprinkler made. Highest award at Chicago Exposition. Can be kept in operation at the residence of the Editor of this Journal.

SEND FOR CIRCULARS,
GIVING TESTIMONIALS AND PRICES.

E. STEBBINS MFG. CO.
Sole Manufacturers,
SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Agents Wanted—Can Make Big Money.

C. D. OUTTEN HAS
THE ASSOCIATION

The Champion Iron Co.
Kenton, O.

CAN FURNISH:
Iron Fencing of Any Style and Weather
Steel Style,
Vases and Fountains for Iron Columns,
Corner Ornament, Hitting Posts.
Estimates furnished on work of any kind.

TABLER'S PAIN
BUCK EYE

ointment
CURES NOTHING BUT PILES.

A SURE AND CERTAIN CURE known for 15 years as the
BEST REMEDY FOR PILES.

Prepared by E. C. HARRIS, M.D., 27, 29, 31, 33, 35, 37, 39, 41, 43, 45, 47, 49, 51, 53, 55, 57, 59, 61, 63, 65, 67, 69, 71, 73, 75, 77, 79, 81, 83, 85, 87, 89, 91, 93, 95, 97, 99, 101, 103, 105, 107, 109, 111, 113, 115, 117, 119, 121, 123, 125, 127, 129, 131, 133, 135, 137, 139, 141, 143, 145, 147, 149, 151, 153, 155, 157, 159, 161, 163, 165, 167, 169, 171, 173, 175, 177, 179, 181, 183, 185, 187, 189, 191, 193, 195, 197, 199, 201, 203, 205, 207, 209, 211, 213, 215, 217, 219, 221, 223, 225, 227, 229, 231, 233, 235, 237, 239, 241, 243, 245, 247, 249, 251, 253, 255, 257, 259, 261, 263, 265, 267, 269, 271, 273, 275, 277, 279, 281, 283, 285, 287, 289, 291, 293, 295, 297, 299, 301, 303, 305, 307, 309, 311, 313, 315, 317, 319, 321, 323, 325, 327, 329, 331, 333, 335, 337, 339, 341, 343, 345, 347, 349, 351, 353, 355, 357, 359, 361, 363, 365, 367, 369, 371, 373, 375, 377, 379, 381, 383, 385, 387, 389, 391, 393, 395, 397, 399, 401, 403, 405, 407, 409, 411, 413, 415, 417, 419, 421, 423, 425, 427, 429, 431, 433, 435, 437, 439, 441, 443, 445, 447, 449, 451, 453, 455, 457, 459, 461, 463, 465, 467, 469, 471, 473, 475, 477, 479, 481, 483, 485, 487, 489, 491, 493, 495, 497, 499, 501, 503, 505, 507, 509, 511, 513, 515, 517, 519, 521, 523, 525, 527, 529, 531, 533, 535, 537, 539, 541, 543, 545, 547, 549, 551, 553, 555, 557, 559, 561, 563, 565, 567, 569, 571, 573, 575, 577, 579, 581, 583, 585, 587, 589, 591, 593, 595, 597, 599, 601, 603, 605, 607, 609, 611, 613, 615, 617, 619, 621, 623, 625, 627, 629, 631, 633, 635, 637, 639, 641, 643, 645, 647, 649, 651, 653, 655, 657, 659, 661, 663, 665, 667, 669, 671, 673, 675, 677, 679, 681, 683, 685, 687, 689, 691, 693, 695, 697, 699, 701, 703, 705, 707, 709, 711, 713, 715,

MRS. TREMAINE'S MONKEY.

"I wonder," I said, as I was looking out of the window of Jack Tremaine's lodgings, "why that girl's rushing up the street without her hat and a dress?"

"Ah!" he said, coming to the window. "I thought it must be she. She's catching the monkey. I expect she misses the way it went. Did you?"

"No," I said. "I was addicted to hunting monkeys?"

"Only the monkey," he replied. "I used to do it once."

"Dear me!" I said. "It's a fashionable amusement in the neighborhood, then?"

"No," he answered, mournfully. "I was engaged to that girl once, and that heart of a monkey broke the engagement off."

"Were you?" I asked, "cut out by the monkey, then?"

"A man," he said, "must be very young to make such a mistake like that. 'Who is she?' I inquired."

"Oh, she's Miss Tremaine," he said. "I'll tell you the story, if you like. It was a warning to you never to get engaged to a girl who keeps a monkey."

"At present," I said, "there is no girl of the sort in my mind's eye, but I'd be glad to be prepared for all emergencies."

"I got engaged to Miss Tremaine," he said, "about three years ago. I met her at the tennis club, and danced and around the place generally here, but I had never seen much of her at home, and I was unwise even of the monkey's nature. As soon as we were engaged, I was introduced to Jack. He was a small monkey, of ordinary appearance, and was not at all first-class prepossessing, but in the Tremaine household he was a family fetish. It's curious to notice the dominant influence in different families. Sometimes it's the baby, sometimes the butler, sometimes the first husband's memory, and sometimes the dead dog. But in this case, Jack reigned supreme. Capt. Tremaine, who was a kind, had bought the monkey, and was concerned in a touching deathbed scene or something of the kind. At any rate, Mrs. Tremaine regarded it as a sacred relic of the dear departed, and heaped all her love and affection on it. I well remember the first night I saw Jack, and discovered the habit that eventually wrecked an engagement. It was a stifling evening, and I suggested to Maud the desirability of opening a window. 'Oh, no,' she said, 'we never can have the windows open in the evening. Jack would get out.' My first hint of Jack's habits was enlarged by Mrs. Tremaine's frequent and objectionable intrusions to inquire as to the beast's whereabouts. A man in the first rapture of an engagement naturally dislikes the luxuries of some one else in pursuit of a monkey. The next morning the nuisance increased. A servant came round—they live a few doors from here—to tell me that Jack had just jumped over the wall to help to catch him. I found him about lunch time, and overhauled him after a long and exciting chase. As seemed obvious, I caught him by the tail, and the brute bit me and was gone for another half hour. Mrs. Tremaine explained reproachfully that Jack always bit people who touched his tail."

"For some months Jack continued to be a nuisance at home and abroad. When he escaped, which he managed to do about once a week, I was expected to secure him. This generally happened in the morning, when the windows were open and the tradesmen were calling, and at first on these occasions I did not reach chambers till the afternoon. Afterward I became quite an adept at catching him. His plan of campaign was to wait till his pursuer was quite close and then jump about 20 yards. I bought a large butterfly net with a long handle, and he never got the hang of that. When I had discovered this, I was completely baffled. As he waited with dread for the time when Jack should escape after dark, and I should be compelled to hunt for the brute through the vegetable garden, on the peril of losing the regard of the Tremaine family, Jack's nonchalant habits were, I may explain, attributed to a desire to find his way out of the house at the event I dreaded occurred. One cold winter's evening Jack disappeared while the cook was interviewing her favorite policeman at the back door, and I got well away. The cook received a month's notice on the spot and I was at once put on the track of the animal. Mrs. Tremaine was much annoyed because I wished to put on my boots before starting, and even Maud's health, almost anxious for the monkey's return. After tramping through four or five miles of streets I experienced what at first I regarded as unexpected good luck. The brute came tearing round a corner, and in a twinkling I had him in my butterfly net. I was just preparing to return, when the run had been so unprofitably short, when a crowd also came round the corner, headed by an angry and breathless Italian. I soon discovered the connection of events. The Italian could not speak much English, but I gathered that he claimed Jack as his monkey, his careless monkey. The crowd, who had become excited in the chase, and who imagined that I was attempting to cheat and poor, ignorant foreigner out of his only solace in a strange land, demanded that I should give the monkey up. The Italian of Maud's friend, who had been called the night in the possession of an untrustworthy Italian, rose before my eyes, and I instinctively declined to relinquish Jack."

"In the course of conversation with the crowd I lost my temper and a considerable portion of the crowd, provoked by the time that a policeman arrived I suppose my appearance did justify him in conveying Jack, the Italian and me to the police station. The crowd, however, most miserable thing. My utmost entreaties failed to induce the police to send to Mrs. Tremaine to bail me out. I think their malice was not of the kind that the policeman who had been so rudely interrupted in his treat with the cook."

"In the morning we appeared before his worship. The Italian and I were charged with creating a disturbance and assault and breach of the peace and that kind of thing, and as I remember, the police threw in a charge of drunk and disorderly against me. His worship asked to see the monkey, and when they brought him to and behold! there were two Jacks. "After some explanation the magistrate sent the charges against us with a caution, on the ground of excusable mistake. And, indeed, it was most excusable. Apparently the Italian had really two monkeys, and whether it was his monkey or Jack that he had been pursuing when I encountered it I do not know to this day. At all events, the police had captured the other monkey during the night and had shut the two up together. There they sat, two ugly, grinning, indistinguishable creatures, both guilty, according to the evidence, of aggravated assault on the police."

"When we were released from the dock the magistrate asked me to remove the monkeys. The Italian and I stared at each other blankly. He knew no more than I which was his property. Of course, it was useless to ask the police about their identity. As the magistrate pointed out, there is no presumption either in law or in fact as to the ownership of two animals. I appealed to him to decide the question himself, and he pointed out that it was the duty of the police to restore property to its owners. I asked him to send me Solomon, but only a police magistrate, and that he doubted whether even the house of lords could throw much light on the subject. The next day, however, was eminently one to be settled out of court."

"At first I tried to solve the difficulty by buying out the Italian's claim to either of the monkeys, with the idea of sorting them afterward. But he, also, it appeared, had a romantic attachment for his carousing monkey, and he declined my overture with ferret appeal to most of the saints on the register. The whole thing, he seemed to think, was a bad affair, and it was a foreign bribe government to trample on the rights of an Italian citizen and to consign his monkey to the dungeons of the Zoo. Then I offered him my choice of the two, and this might have saved all trouble if Mrs. Tremaine had not arrived at that moment to inquire for Jack and had learned the whole affair from a communicative inspector."

"Neither Jack nor the alleged Jack showed the faintest signs of recognition. Indeed, they almost at once overcame themselves to a sanguinary fight, in which Mrs. Tremaine intervened with considerable injury to herself. Then she turned to me, and I could see from her manner that she considered me responsible for the whole difficulty. For a quarter of an hour I had a really lively time. Mrs. Tremaine bawled at me, and the Italian outraged Mrs. Tremaine. Neither of them understood a word that the other said, and I had to act as interpreter and buffer."

"Eventually, I made the best terms that I could. The Italian agreed, for a consideration, to allow us to keep both monkeys for a week, during which we might discover their identity. Mrs. Tremaine quite readily agreed to the proposal, for she was confident that no monkey but Jack could possess such virtues. I was more doubtful, believing that the virtues were few enough to be common to many monkeys. And so it turned out. Both monkeys made themselves quite at home, overate themselves equally, stole as cleverly, and what was most remarkable, searched with identical persistence for the deceased Capt. Tremaine. Twice that week I had to catch two monkeys, and when they were both in the butterfly net they nearly killed me. Mrs. Tremaine used to look at them by the hour, and so, and call Jack's name. They both answered to the name, if there was any food about, and at other times preferred to be the other monkey."

"At the end of the week, the organ grinder appeared punctually, and a heartrending scene followed. No decision had been reached, and Maud, at the arrival of the organ grinder, and then Mrs. Tremaine and Maud differed as to which was the real Jack. Then the question had to be decided somehow, and thinking it really mattered little which we kept, I suggested that we should toss up. The flippancy of the suggestion annoyed them, and led to recriminations, but we agreed to decide by lot, that being a method of settling out of the difficulty, and suitable to the occasion. The organ grinder went on his way contentedly, and I hoped that the affair was at an end. But I was very much mistaken. No sooner had he gone than Mrs. Tremaine and Maud became alike convinced that they had given up the real Jack. They said they were now certain of it. Poor dear Jack was sitting on a barrel organ in the middle of the street, and engaged in the degrading occupation of collecting coppers, and monkeys were so liable to constipation, and what would poor pups think if he were alive?"

"I stood this for about ten days and then I went after the Italian again, having obtained his address in case of further complications. His monkeys were apparently now extended to both monkeys, for he consented to an exchange for a further consideration. Surely, I thought, to my satisfaction, but my mother would be contented. But no, the thing began all over again. The former Jack, who had been his darling, and they'd given him up when they'd got him safe, and it was by my advice and it was all my fault. Twice more I exchanged the monkeys, and then at last even my patience failed. We quarreled, and we parted, and I've never spoken to her since. That's why I say, never get engaged to a girl who keeps a monkey."

"—Love makes its record in deeper ink than the man's out of the chronicle; by the policeman who had been so rudely interrupted in his treat with the cook."

An Inevitable.
Among the advertisements in a German paper there lately appeared the following: "The gentleman who found a purse with money in the Blumenstrasse is requested to forward it to the address of the loser, as he was recognized."

A few days afterwards the reply was inserted: "The recognized gentleman who picked up a purse in the Blumenstrasse requests the loser to call at his house."—Tit-Bits.

Early Rising Insanity.
Blinks—Say, professor, do you believe in the theory that early rising tends to insanity?

Prof. Smart—Yes, I think there is considerable truth in it.

Blinks—But a man to be insane must have a delusion of some sort. Now, what particular delusion have you ever known an early riser to be afflicted with?

Prof. Smart—The delusion that he liked early rising.—N. Y. World.

CONJUGAL AMENITIES.
"You may bring me some nice steak for dinner," she said.

"Well, I think about ten or fifteen pounds will be enough. And be sure to bring it raw. My husband won't eat it if it isn't."—Chicago Tribune.

Exact Answer.
"What have you to say to this bill, anyway?" said the collector, warmly, as Bimley opened the door and smiled on him.

Sprague—Returned Bimley, sententiously.

And that was exactly the way it turned out.—N. Y. Recorder.

Such a Pity.
Mrs. Jettan to Sprague, who has recently buried his wife—I am sure your friends all unite in their sympathy for you. Mrs. Sprague was such a kind, good neighbor.

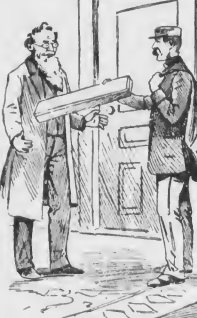

Sprague—And the poor woman was just beginning to get some comfort out of her new needle.—To Date.

A Good One.
"Does Dr. Motter, the apothecary, attend divine worship here?" asked the nervous new minister of the deacon.

"I guess he does," cried the deacon with much enthusiasm; "we call Dr. Motter one of the pillars of the church."—N. Y. Recorder.

Always So.
There was a case of Wall street once. He started with the idea. He always meant to write a book. But he didn't have the time. The man who interviewed this king—the ways of fate are funny.—Herald.

But didn't have the money. —Washington Capital.

STRANGE Juxtaposition of World's Fair Occurrences.
First John Boyd Thatcher Diploma and Medal Delivered in Chicago One Day Before the Wreckers Finish Their Demolition of the White City Buildings.

Papa's Kindness.
"Mr. Lovehome seems to be a very kind father. He writes his children to the woods every Sunday afternoon."

"Yes," he sits under a tree and reads his paper, while they find swags' nests in the bushes and dig for worms in the dirt."—Detroit Free Press.

A Good Reason.
"I don't like his dog," he said, speaking of his rival.

"Why, his dog once saved his life," she explained in scorn.

"That's the reason I don't like the dog," he answered, bitterly.—Chicago Post.

Just Noticed It.
"And shall I speak to your father?" asked the young man. "Never mind about papa," said the young woman. "I'll fix him." For the first time he noticed the wealth of the girl's inferior maxillary.—Indianapolis Journal.

Borrowed (happening in)—That's a fine monkey of yours. Very handsome. Why don't you come around and take it out for a little spin. By the way, what kind of bicycle would you advise me to ride?

"I suggest you'd advise you to ride one of your own."—Chicago Tribune.

Excited Her Sympathy.
Mrs. Husell—What did you work at?

Rural Ruggs—I had a job in a soap factory, mum.

Mrs. Husell (pitifully)—Come in and eat. It must be terrible to be out of work so long as you've been.—N. Y. World.

Blushed Like a Lobster.
Gussie—Look at Mary's blushing blushing. I bet her mother is giving her for flirting with young Poorfellow.

De Cynicus—Yes, that girl always reminds me of a lobster, turns red when she's in hot water.—N. Y. World.

An Illusion Disappointed.
Agnes—It seems wicked to eat those dear little spring lambs that gambol on the green.

Pat—Don't worry, dear, they are never eaten while they are able to gambol.—Detroit Free Press.

Twice.
"Since my daughter has given her consent Mr. Snort," said the old man, "I am inclined to look with favor upon your suit. But I must first be satisfied as to your financial condition and prospects. Would you be prepared, now, to let me see your books?"

"No, sir," answered the young man.

"Pity?"

"Ten?"

"No."

"Five?"

Mr. Snort warred slightly, but answered in the negative. "Before."

"Take her, my boy!" said the old man, vainly striving to conceal his emotion. Take her, and God bless you! You've got a lot more sense than I thought you had!"—Harpers Bazar.

Witely Soliloquy.
The young bride who had just gone to housekeeping was giving her first order to the butcher's man at the kitchen door.

"You may bring me some nice steak for dinner," she said.

"Well, I think about ten or fifteen pounds will be enough. And be sure to bring it raw. My husband won't eat it if it isn't."—Chicago Tribune.

Exact Answer.
"What have you to say to this bill, anyway?" said the collector, warmly, as Bimley opened the door and smiled on him.

Sprague—Returned Bimley, sententiously.

And that was exactly the way it turned out.—N. Y. Recorder.

Such a Pity.
Mrs. Jettan to Sprague, who has recently buried his wife—I am sure your friends all unite in their sympathy for you. Mrs. Sprague was such a kind, good neighbor.

Sprague—And the poor woman was just beginning to get some comfort out of her new needle.—To Date.

A Good One.
"Does Dr. Motter, the apothecary, attend divine worship here?" asked the nervous new minister of the deacon.

"I guess he does," cried the deacon with much enthusiasm; "we call Dr. Motter one of the pillars of the church."—N. Y. Recorder.

Always So.
There was a case of Wall street once. He started with the idea. He always meant to write a book. But he didn't have the time. The man who interviewed this king—the ways of fate are funny.—Herald.

But didn't have the money. —Washington Capital.

STRANGE Juxtaposition of World's Fair Occurrences.
First John Boyd Thatcher Diploma and Medal Delivered in Chicago One Day Before the Wreckers Finish Their Demolition of the White City Buildings.

Papa's Kindness.
"Mr. Lovehome seems to be a very kind father. He writes his children to the woods every Sunday afternoon."

"Yes," he sits under a tree and reads his paper, while they find swags' nests in the bushes and dig for worms in the dirt."—Detroit Free Press.

A Good Reason.
"I don't like his dog," he said, speaking of his rival.

"Why, his dog once saved his life," she explained in scorn.

"That's the reason I don't like the dog," he answered, bitterly.—Chicago Post.

Just Noticed It.
"And shall I speak to your father?" asked the young man. "Never mind about papa," said the young woman. "I'll fix him." For the first time he noticed the wealth of the girl's inferior maxillary.—Indianapolis Journal.

Borrowed (happening in)—That's a fine monkey of yours. Very handsome. Why don't you come around and take it out for a little spin. By the way, what kind of bicycle would you advise me to ride?

"I suggest you'd advise you to ride one of your own."—Chicago Tribune.

Excited Her Sympathy.
Mrs. Husell—What did you work at?

Rural Ruggs—I had a job in a soap factory, mum.

Mrs. Husell (pitifully)—Come in and eat. It must be terrible to be out of work so long as you've been.—N. Y. World.

Blushed Like a Lobster.
Gussie—Look at Mary's blushing blushing. I bet her mother is giving her for flirting with young Poorfellow.

De Cynicus—Yes, that girl always reminds me of a lobster, turns red when she's in hot water.—N. Y. World.

An Illusion Disappointed.
Agnes—It seems wicked to eat those dear little spring lambs that gambol on the green.

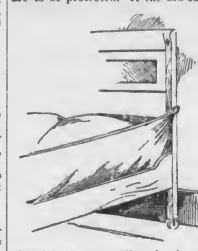

Pat—Don't worry, dear, they are never eaten while they are able to gambol.—Detroit Free Press.

WOMAN AND HOME.

TO PREVENT TUMBLERS.

A Simple but Effective Device for the Children's Bed.
When little folks groggled from the crib, with its safe, close sides, and some into the dignity of sleeping in a "grown-up" bed, there is apt to be many a tumble upon the floor in the darkness, particularly if the time be summer, when the bed clothing cannot be "tucked in" closely. Little people are apt to be restless at night after a hard day's play, and in tossing about, it is small wonder that they often fall out of bed. The possibility of this catastrophe has made unnumbered hosts of mothers sleep "with one eye open," ready to spring up at the sound of unwelcome stirring in the next room.

Such nervous apprehension is wearing, and altogether unnecessary, for there are a number of simple devices for making the children's bed safe—fall-out-able, if I may so express the idea. One of the best is shown in the accompanying illustration. A strip of stout linen or some other serviceable material is cut to the length of the bed, and is beamed about the "legs," having a broad hem at the bottom, through which to tuck the strip to the inside of the side pieces of the bed, if both sides are to be protected. If the bed can be placed against a wall, only the outer side will require a strip tacked to it. In the upper corners of the strip are metal rings, and insert hooks in the headboard and footboard, so that, when the bed is made up in the morning the strip can be folded in under the quilts, to be removed and hooked up into place at night. With such a device the mother can sleep in peace, quite certain that the little folk will be found in the morning where they were placed at night—on the bed instead of under it, where one mother who I know found her restless little girl, some hours after she had put her to sleep.—Country Gentleman.

LUMINOUS COMPLEXIONS.

Striking Effects in Illumination Seen at a Paris Afternoon Tea.
Electric light is out of date at Paris as well as London, and gas, candles and lamps have likewise been superseded. Phosphorescent furniture and fixtures had, and formed an interesting feature of a unique "five o'clock tea" which took place the other day in the Rue de Longchamps, Paris. It was not evident where the light came from, but every object in the room was luminous. The ceiling sparkled as with diamonds. Chairs, carpet, pictures, and furniture—all emitted luminous rays. Nor were these fascinating gleams limited to the room and its furnishings, but the guests of the women were also luminous. A very striking, one thought it may be questioned whether phosphorescent complexions and self-luminous linen collars could be becoming to all types of women.—N. Y. World.

Fit Fasting.
Cut up six ounces of figs, then mix them with six ounces of good stout (previously well picked and freed from skin, etc.), three ounces of stout raisins or sultanas, two ounces of candied peel, two ounces of sweet almonds (with two or three bitter ones), and a ounce of flour, mix it all quite fine together, adding in by degrees six ounces fine dried bread-crumbs and the same of moist sugar. Bake in a buttered tin for a pinch of salt, and when it is all thoroughly blended work in gradually three eggs previously beaten up with half a gill of milk, and the whole of brandy or rum (if preferred sherry or half sherry; half spirits may be substituted), beating it all well together for a little while. Then let it stand for an hour or so before cooking. It will take from five to six hours' boiling or steaming. This makes a decidedly rich pudding.—N. Y. Mercury.

Remains of a Feast Dinner.
Remains of a roast of lamb or mutton can be served in a variety of dainty ways. For instance, cut the meat in slices, and serve it in a buttered baking dish with wine, preferably sherry, and a seasoning of salt, pepper and a little mustard. Serve very hot, and garnish with sprouts or of macaroni, and a highly-seasoned tomato sauce. Or the slices may be well beated and served with a very rich white sauce and fried cauliflower or bread thickly spread with anchovy butter. Cold lamb chops are nice if trimmed, served quickly with a pure of onions, dipped in egg and fried, and then garnished with parsley and served with tomato sauce.

Not So Safe.
The Life Insurance Company had been talking steadily for only an hour or so, when the victim, perceiving a chance to get a word in edgewise, remarked: "It is a new idea, I suppose, but I don't see how you can be safe and not die."

"How so?"

"Nobody is safe from either of you."—Texas Sifter.

Good for Sore Throats.
Tincture of iodine dropped into water is an excellent wash for the mouth and the throat. The proper proportions are ten drops of tincture to a glass of water.

Newsletters in London.
The paper of the London is now three to eight shillings per pound.

DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

Ripping Up a Garment Is a Task Requiring Skill.

There is a general impression that it is an easy enough matter to rip up a garment. Almost any one can do it, and it is an undertaking that requires no special skill or care. Acting on this idea, clothing is pulled, torn, cut with knives, and in many cases, and finally, taken to pieces after this unprofitable fashion, and the operator comes and declares that everything is ready. A lady who has been thus engaged, and who has been told that large quantities of good goods are thus being wasted, is expected to rip a garment up as it should be done. If the seams are ripped, they are full of holes, and sometimes there are buttons on hooks and eyes are not uncommon; the fronts of them are stuck full of pins of various sizes and linings, facings, braids and the like remain, in whole or in pieces, just as the individual who had charge of the disintegrating process happens to leave.

To rip up a garment properly there is no pulling, tearing or dragging apart. If one cannot take the end of the thread and pull it out, the stitches should be cut with a sharp knife. Very few persons can rip a garment with scissors without doing it great harm; indeed, many find it impossible to cut stitches with anything but unkind looks that render the goods absolutely worthless for the one who originally wore it. When it does come to such a case, it is better to use a smaller pattern must be used. In preparing goods for the dyer or to be made over, every stitch should be taken out.

It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of money to do these fastenings, braid and hooks and eyes must be removed, but this is imperative. In view of the condition in which the garments come to the dressmaker and the dyer. Many dresses, capes and jackets are perfectly worthless after being carefully ripped, brushed, sponged and pressed. It is a waste of Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Al Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

OUR WATER BOX

[The Editor of THE LEADER is not responsible for opinions expressed by Correspondents; but regarding nothing on the character of any person will be admitted to these columns.]

Correspondents will please send letters so as to reach us not later than 3 o'clock a.m. Give full name and address. We cannot assume in this department, and not advertising notices or political arguments.

OUR AGENTS.

The following are authorized Agents for THE LEADER in their respective localities:

Miss. — Frank W. Hayes.
Ark. — B. G. Grady.
Calif. — J. C. Deegan.
Conn. — W. J. Jackson.
Fla. — Mrs. Jessie Stewart.
Ga. — Charles L. & F. W. Worthington.
Ill. — Joseph W. Williams.
Ind. — Joseph W. Williams.
Iowa — J. H. Hunter.
Ky. — J. H. Hunter.
Mo. — J. H. Hunter.
N. C. — J. H. Hunter.
N. D. — J. H. Hunter.
S. C. — J. H. Hunter.
Tenn. — J. H. Hunter.
Tex. — J. H. Hunter.
Vt. — J. H. Hunter.
W. Va. — J. H. Hunter.
Wis. — J. H. Hunter.

GOTTAVILLE CULLINGS.

Notations From Our Faithful Newspaper in That Fruitful Field.

What outfit is about over.
Crops of all kinds look fine.
Miss T. J. Tully was in Mayville last week.
Miss Rita Gilling will leave in a few days on a long visit to her brother in Illinois.
Miss Kate Barker will teach the school in the Pence District the coming season.
J. P. Nash at Mayville came up last Sunday to see his family, who have been visiting relatives here for some time.
Mrs. Mary Farquhar, who was operated on last week by Dr. J. W. Guthrie of Manchester for cancer, is rapidly recovering.
Some of our Democratic friends predict that Senator Teller will be the next Presidential nominee, and if he is he will be elected almost all doubt.

FOXPORT FANCIES.

Gossip Gleanings By a Valued Correspondent in That Bright Region.

P. F. Martin is at Maplewood this week.
Born, to the wife of Sam Carpenter, a son.
U. P. Deegan paid a flying visit to his place last week.
Little Cecil Millon is recovering from a serious illness.
Mr. and Mrs. Fitch of Flemingsburg visited Mrs. Han recently.
Mr. Joe Luman and wife of Winchester are visiting his parents.
Mrs. Mary Ekanan of Carmel visited Mrs. L. J. Millon Thursday.
Mr. and Mrs. Will Selzer visited her parents at Patterson last week.
Miss Lena Humphries has returned from a week's visit at Vancouburg.
Little Frank, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Boiling, died Monday.
Miss Vick Johnson of Flemingsburg visited friends here Saturday and Sunday.
Miss Stella Graham of Martin, Lewis county, visited Mrs. Mahon Doyle last week.
Miss Fay Martin, who is attending school in Flemingsburg, visited her parents last week.
Mrs. Joe Luman, Sr., and Mrs. Mahon Doyle have each purchased a new cooking range.
Miss Hattie May Ekanan of Carmel spent the day recently with Betta Martin and Pearl Millon.
Married, June 19th, Mr. Will Fontaine of Walla Walla, W. Va., and Miss Ida Fontaine at the home of the bride.
Miss Kate Mackendow of Crum was here recently and secured our school, and will be ably assisted by Miss Ella Millon.

R. Y. Luman died in Fleming county a few days since.

The pain that sometimes strikes a man at the most inopportune moment is due to indigestion. It may come in the midst of a dinner and make the feast a mockery. It is a reminder that he may not eat what he chooses, and then be choosy. It is a sign to the weakness of his stomach. A man's health and strength depends upon what he gets out of his food. This depends on his digestion. Remove the obstruction by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are a positive cure for constipation and its attendant ill-effects—sour stomach, flatulence, indigestion, biliousness and "heartburn." The "Pellets" are very gentle in their action. They simply assist nature. They give no violent wrench to the system. They cause no pain, nor griping.

Send $1 one cent stamp to cover cost of mailing only, and receive free a copy of Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. Address, Women's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

CYCLERS' CORNER!

WHAT OUR WHEELMEN ARE DOING.

As the active season of bicycle manufacture is fast drawing to a close, a speculation naturally arises regarding the improvements that will be introduced in next year's models. The present types of high grade wheels are practically uniform in appearance and general construction, and the changes in each will probably tend in the same direction. No very radical changes can be expected, and it is very likely that if a startling innovation should appear it would be assailed as a freak; but with a constant demand for new styles and changing fashions, some difference is necessary to enable the public to distinguish between the old and the new, but if changes are made they should be such as are positively beneficial.

In the length of wheel-base and angles of the frame it would be difficult to suggest any improvement, as perfection in design has been nearly attained as the present type of machine will permit.

There is no logical reason why the price of $100 should not remain on the highest grade wheels. It is incontrovertible that they can be made to be worth that figure, but if it is to be maintained the public expects and has a right to demand something both artistic in appearance and mechanical construction. In the latter particular no fault can be found in the representative high-grade wheels of today, but advancement is necessary in the prevalent styles of equipment to conform with the former particularly as improved considerably in appearance after the paramount problem of utility is solved. A careful finish is of a vital importance to insure the wheel a favorable reception. Colored enamels are popular and artistic grating greatly enhances the effect which a high lustre produces. All these minor details considered collectively cannot be slighted, as they make or mar a good machine.

D-shaped tubing, which has figured conspicuously in English machines, will probably be used quite extensively in our own machines next year, not only because it is new and novel, but because it possesses some points of merit not found in round tubing. The present state of tubing in the front frame will prevail, but the contrast of 4 and 5 tubes in the rear frame can be considerably relieved by substituting a 1 inch D-shaped rear fork and 1 inch rear stays. This will make the frame appear stocky and also afford the greatest strength with a minimum weight. As D-shaped tubing is stronger than regular tubing of the same weight.

To supply the expected demand for tires at least as large as 1 1/2 inches, sufficient width must be allowed in the rear forks without widening the trail and without bending the tubes enough to weaken their support on the crank hanger. The new tubing would best accomplish this purpose and with the flat side of the D toward the wheel, it would not be distinguished from a round tube at first glance.

Some results will probably materialize in next year's wheels from the numerous experiments now being made in crank fastenings. Many of the leading makers have so far retained the keyed cranks, not because they thought them mechanically the best, but because they lacked confidence in any other method yet introduced. No objection will be raised to the size of the crank-hanger providing a satisfactory device can be found to make the cranks and axle in two pieces at least without the use of even one cotter pin and without sacrificing any much-needed strength in a vital point.

When the stubborn public gets an idea in its head it cannot be argued out of it and must be humored. It is therefore to be expected that there will be some calls for gear-cases to be included in other equipment, and manufacturers will be compelled to supply them; but inasmuch as they would mar the appearance of an otherwise attractive wheel, and being troublesome and unmechanical, can enjoy only a transitory popularity; they will not be advocated by bicycle manufacturers and will only be asked for on a low or medium grade machine. The class of riders who buy high priced wheels for the next few seasons will demand those stripped of all unnecessary appendages. What options are called for can be sold independent of the machines and be cleared among sundries.—The American Wheelman.

W. A. Hinton has been appointed Postmaster at Mule's Mills, Fleming county.

Taxes at Manchester will be about $4 on the $100 this year. Where? Glad we are not property-holders there.

THE KNOXVILLE TRIP.

The Team Has Been Strengthened—Some Good Notes En Route.

The Locals leave for Knoxville, Tenn., Tuesday for a series of games with those Indians.

The team has been strengthened by the signing of Cornelius and Renner, two of the players from the Bond Hills.

They are both known to our local fans, and Renner, who will play short, is one of those fellows who fields his position like a Leaguer.

Here is the make-up of the team:

Third base—Lautenbach.
Catcher—Keller.
Left field—Curie.
Pitcher—Lever.
Second base—Sutherland.
First base—Correll.
Right field—Cox.
Shortstop—Renner.
Center field—Wadsworth.
Pitcher—Newton.
Substitute—Rogers.

IN-DOORS.

Ray Fenley, playing with the Pottsville, Pa. team.

What the Locals will do to the Reds this time will be enough.

Team work, boys, is what you want. It is the best medicine on earth. Look at the Cincinnati Reds, for instance.

The game yesterday at Portsmouth was a one-sided affair, and it was on Sammy Lever's side. He threw the Ironsides down by a score of 20 to 0.

The Paris team lost a good game to Mt. Sterling the other day. Reiman pitched. He wasn't the team to back him up this year that he had last, and you'll hear of that team losing a whole lot of games.

There is a brilliant future in store for Clarke Rogers. Two years ago there wasn't a better player any place. He was particularly fast with the stick, and all he needs is just a little practice, and you'll see "Sticky" making all kinds of records.

There is a grievous mistake made by our boys that should be stopped. If you have noticed the games that Newton has pitched that individual has had to do the biggest part of the work. This is the reason: The boys have too much confidence in him, and therefore do not play half with as much ginger as they should. Not that they have not the same amount of confidence in Lever, for they have, but they just seem to think that they played a good game behind Lever yesterday and today we have another good pitcher in the box and we'll let him do the work. That isn't fair. Besides you are not doing the people right by taking their money at the gate and not playing good ball in return. Now, boys, if you support one and shut out a team, give the other the same and make him feel like pitching the game of his life, and there'll never be a game lost.

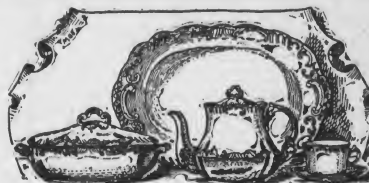

Grand Clearance Sale

Of Summer Footwear!

DOWN GO THE PRICES! - - - DOWN GO THE PRICES!

Now is your chance to get a bargain. Sandals and Oxfords we will not hold; they must go. We will sell you a Ladies' Oxford from 40 cents up. Other prices in proportion. Don't forget us. We are the cheapest Shoe house in Kentucky.

The Progress Shoe Store

New "CYPRIUS" SHAPE, Semi-Porcelain.

IT'S HANDSOME! And the Only Place You Can Purchase It From

C.D. RUSSELL & CO.

"THE CHINAMEN."

FINE STOCK

FOR SALE!

Four Yearling Shorthorn Bulls, extra bred.
Fifty head of well-bred Trotting Horses.
Ten head of Jersey Cows.
W. W. BALDWIN
Mayville, Ky.

The Bartine Shows

Syndicate Shows

Trained Animal Exposition.

WILL EXHIBIT AT

ABERDEEN, OHIO,
Monday, June 29, 1896.

Note—An arrangement has been made with the ferry where the show will be carried free. No extra charge of admission.

At Ruggles Campgrounds!

Saturday, July 4th, At 10 a.m.

The following privileges will be let to the best bidder: Hotel, Confectionery, Stables, Ice-cream parlor, and other amusements. The bidder reserves the right to reject any or all bids. The meeting on these beautiful and much improved grounds will be held beginning July 4th, and continuing August 1st. The grounds will be present. Rev. A. B. Leonard of Ashland, Pa., will be in charge of the singing. The singing will be in charge of Prof. Crabbs of Ashland, assisted by a splendid choir, which is an assurance that the music will be all that could be desired. The Tabernacle has been enlarged, a 14-room house has been built with porches all around, making accommodations for all new comers, the grounds are beautiful, and best of all there is an abundance of pure water—two large cisterns, three wells one of which is 150 feet deep, the water of which we have had analyzed, and it contains the following medicinal properties: Total solids, 34 to 35 lbs. per gallon; calcium, 1.5 to 2.0 lbs. per gallon; sodium and potassium, insoluble salts, 0.4 to 0.5 to the liter; consisting of calcium carbonate with traces of iron.

There will be in charge of Rev. G. W. Fronger and J. G. Doty, Presiding Elders of the Congregational and Ashland D. M. E. Any one desiring conditions write to M. L. LASH, Mayville, Ky.

The Silver Convention at Chicago will be a hummer. See J. N. Lynch and get The Cincinnati Post.

The advertising columns of THE LEADER speak for themselves. They show that people who know how to advertise know also where to advertise.

If it required an annual outlay of $100 to insure a family against any serious consequences from an attack of lowly complaint during the year there are many who would feel it their duty to pay it; that they could not afford to risk their lives, and those of their family for such an amount. Any one can get this insurance for 35 cents, that being the price of a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of bowel complaint before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. One or two doses of this remedy will cure any ordinary case. It never fails. Can you afford to take the risk for so small an amount? For sale by J. J. Wood Drugist.

First Class Steamboat Service Between Detroit and Cleveland, and Cleveland, Put-in-Bow and Toledo.

D. and C. Floating Palaces are now running daily between Detroit and Cleveland, and on May 1st will commence to run daily between Cleveland, Put-in-Bow and Toledo. If you are traveling between the above points, take advantage of a water trip and save money.

Spend your vacation on the Great Lakes. Send for illustrated pamphlet. Address A. A. Schantz, G. P. A., Detroit, Mich.

Washington Opera House!

WASHINGTON FIRE COMPANY, Proprietors.

EXECUTIVE STAFF:

H. C. Sharp, Manager.
John W. Farag, City Bill Poster.
John H. Bode, Chief Cashier.
John McCarty, Doorkeeper.

Reservist Seats at Nelson's.

TAKE STOCK IN THE

Twenty-First Series

OF THE OLD AND RELIABLE

Shoe Company Building and Saving Association!

The Books are now open. It only takes 80 cents to start a Share. In a short time you have accumulated One Hundred Dollars!

The Association is now paying out over Fifteen Thousand Dollars saved in this way, not waiting until September, allowing the Shareholders Three Dollars per share premium. Now is the time to begin to lay by something for a rainy day.

CALL ON.....
M. C. Russell, R. K. Hoeflich,
SECRETARY, TREASURER.